

Mr. Jan Zijderveld has more than 30 years experience in the field of egg products. He is a qualified engineer in Food technology. In his position as managing director quality and development with Bouwhuis Enthoven Mr. Zijderveld is responsible for the translation of customer requirements into specific products and processes. The development team of Bouwhuis Enthoven is working in partnerships to develop the suitable applications and processes for existing egg products, and to develop new egg products in cooperation with customers and partners.